

Exercise 4

Pick two tables from your planned database and create tables for them using MS Access. Then, set up their relationships and create a data entry form for them. Enter in a few records to test the form and see how (if) it works properly.